Art Unit: 1755

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claims 1-10, drawn to a polishing composition.

Group II, claims 11-12, drawn to a polishing method.

Group III, claims 13-14, drawn to substrate.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reason:

Claim 1 is anticipated by Ito et al. (559), as defined below, thus the special technical feature linking the above groups, a polishing slurry, does not provide a contribution over the art and thus no single general inventive concept exists.

During a telephone conversation with Sheldon I. Landsman on 3/22/06 a provisional election was made with traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-10. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 11-14 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Art Unit: 1755

Claims 7 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 7 is indefinite as to the terms “high” and “low” because these are relative terms which renders the claim indefinite. These terms are not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.

Claim 7 is also indefinite as to the limitation “selected from...weight compounds, which are selected from...ester salts” because this claim is defining a double limitation (2 groups of surfactants) for the selection of the surfactants, thus the examiner is unclear as to what the surfactant is selected from. This claim should be 2 separate claims.

Claim 10 is indefinite as to the term “high” because this is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. This term is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as anticipated by Ito et al. (559).

Art Unit: 1755

The reference teaches in sections [0040]-[0058], a polishing slurry having a pH above 11 comprising cerium oxide, as a predominate component (50% or more cerium oxide), having a d(50) value and surface area that reads on the claimed values, a nonionic surfactant (claimed material), an anionic surfactant (claimed material) and medium (claimed material). Other materials can be added, such as cellulose ethers. The cerium oxide is produced from a rare earth carbonate.

The claimed invention is anticipated by the reference because the reference teaches a composition which comprises all of the claimed components.

The references cited on the 1449 and the search report have been reviewed by the examiner and are considered to be art of interest since they are cumulative to or less than the art relied upon in the above rejections.

Any foreign language documents submitted by applicant has been considered to the extent of the short explanation of significance, English abstract or English equivalent, if appropriate.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Michael A. Marcheschi whose telephone number is (571) 272-1374. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F (8:00-5:30) First Friday Off.
